Double Killing at Deasle

On Labor Day.

A double killing occurred at Deasle Monday evening about 7 o'clock, when Steve George, a foreigner, ended the life of his American wife, Rose George, also that of Ferd Polite, in whose company the jealous husband found his wife. He fired one shot at each. Polite was his first victim and was shot in the head when George came upon him in a clump of bushes with the woman. Polite died soon after-wards, while he was being taken to the St. Louis Smelting and Refining Company's Hospital at St. Francois. The woman was shot as she started to run when her husband fired at Polite. She was struck in the back above the right hip in the region of the kidneys and died at the hospital the following day.

Although separated from his wife, George, according to testimony given at the coroner's inquest, had made threats earlier in the day that he would kill any man found with her that day. The shooting occurred near the Greek Catholic Church, several hundred yards from the picnic ground, where the "Odd Fellows" celebration was being held. The George woman, over whom the trouble originated, was known to be of notorious character, and it is said that Polite was the fourth man to loose his life as the result of trouble in which she has had an important part.—Farmington News.

Ferd Polite was formerly a resident of Cadet and was well known to many of our readers. He was a brother of Eli and Roger Polite, of Cadet. His remains were buried at Cadet.

Hiram W. Cook of Potosi says: "My kidneys have been out of order several times. I was annoyed by having to get up at night to pass the kidney secretions. I finally got a box of Doan's Kidney Pills at the City Drug Store. In a day or two after using them my trouble was removed."
